READING CAMP MARYLAND

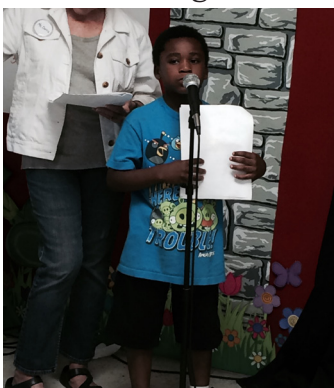

Who We Are

The mission of Reading Camp Maryland is to promote personal and academic growth and success for struggling, at-risk students and to encourage them to become strong readers, engaged students, and responsible members of their communities. Reading Camp works with children entering grades 3-5 to review and improve reading skills, build self-confidence, grow a love of reading and learning, and stem the effects of “summer reading loss.”

During their week at camp, campers receive tutoring each morning focusing on phonics, sight words, decoding/encoding, strategies, comprehension, writing, and pleasure reading using games and other non-traditional activities. In the afternoon campers enjoy traditional camp activities such as swimming, crafts, and field trips. They also enjoy breakfast, lunch, and two snacks daily. All fees are paid through donations and grants. There is no fee to attend Reading Camp.

Currently there are five Reading Camps in the Diocese of Maryland, but it is our goal to expand this program to wherever it is needed.

What is needed is space, willing volunteers who want to make a difference in the life of a child, and money. Our children are our future, and as committed followers of Jesus Christ, it is our obligation to see that all of them receive the best education possible so that they may live into their full potential. We are grateful for the many people who have supported us and those who will join us in the future.
